

Holbrook Vet Centre provides veterinary services to our breeding service, for Embryo Transfer, A.I, routine stud procedures and ambulatory calls.

Routine procedures for reproductive evaluations involve internal rectal and vaginal examinations. It is important to know and understand that complications can occur during these procedures.

1. Injury during restraint for the procedure. Occasionally mares can injure themselves while being restrained. If this occurs or we are concerned it may occur, the mare will be given drugs to facilitate the procedure.
2. Tearing of the rectal wall during an internal examination by a veterinarian is a known complication of this procedure, and does occur in a small percentage of both quiet and nervous mares. Whilst all care, including the administration of tranquillisers and/of rectal relaxing drugs is taken, tearing can still occur. When this injury is detected it will be treated as an emergency.
3. Colics and vaginal service injuries are also treated as emergencies.

FOR ALL EMERGENCY TREATMENTS YOU WILL BE CONTACTED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

CLIENT AUTHORISATION

I authorise Berragoon Breeders & ASH Stud to act as our agent and engage the Holbrook Vet Centre for all routine/emergency procedures.

Berragoon Breeders & ASH Stud will take all due care and provide attention and service to your horse(s) while they reside at "Mandaring" Holbrook. However problems such as sickness, injuries, lameness may occur. In the event that you cannot be contacted regarding treatment or unforeseen problems Berragoon Breeders & ASH Stud will treat as necessary. Every effort will be made to advise you prior to treatment.

I consent for internal rectal and vaginal examinations to be performed on my mare, and I am aware of and accept the possibility of complications that may occur.

I also accept that I will pay for these services within the trading terms of the Holbrook Vet Centre.
